L'Avi I la Sagrada Familia

Film research breakthrough (June 2010) in Barcelona regarding the resting place of the grandfather. The body remains are in the famous mass grave, Fossar de la Pedrera, situated in a valley beside the big cemetery near the Catalan capital Barcelona's industrial ship port.

Manely was given access to the military intelligence archives, where he found a dubious death sentence and exact location and date of execution (6 May 1940).

Impressions of the mass grave valley where we found the grandfather's name crafted on one of the columns ordered by year with names of fallen people. Only a fraction of the bodies have been identified by paper work. 11.000 plus remain unknown.

Wim Hof the Ice Man Film

Link to first trailer:

In July 2010, Wim Hof and Manely met, and a new project is born. Wim Hof requests we start a film project to empower his findings and tell his story through a film for the big screen. Manely conducts several research film shoots and creates a trailer for Hof. In October, after revising several times, they sign a contract, and all rights are given to the filmmaker. We know this is a long project due to science. At least ten years, if not more, will be needed due to waiting for the development of science papers/research and Wim Hof's Branding.

Frame of the first trailer made before signing contracts and quitclaim.
